WHY ARE DANES SO WEIRD?
- understanding the reason behind the oddities of the Danes

THE CONTENT OF THE SEMINAR:

Looking from a sociological perspective, Danes, are in many ways the odd ones out.

During this seminar you will have a chance to dig deeper into the sociological peculiarities (or rather, normalities) of the Danish culture and gain an understanding of for example: Where do they all go at 4 pm? And what’s up with everybody being equal all the time - flat hierarchy and blurry decision-making?

With new insights into the Danish mindset you and your Danish colleagues will share a whole new common understanding in everyday working situations and have a laugh when the Danish oddities manifest themselves...again.

CONTENT:

- Identifying where the Danes are significantly different to everybody else
- Presentation of the Danish core values and their impact on general Danish behaviour and preferences
- What to expect of Danes in the work place, both as a colleague and as manager and why
- Look behind the unwritten social etiquette for socializing with the Danes

METHOD:

The seminar is based on theory, presentations and practical exercises and is conducted with humour by a facilitator from LIVING INSTITUTE.

Research shows that Danes are the most trusting people on earth, they have the lowest power-distance and Danish men have very strong female values compared to almost all other men in the world!

Info box

Date: To be decided
Duration: 45 min - ½ day
Place: To be decided
Language: English
Target Group: International professionals and their Danish colleagues
Participants: No limit

Contact & Registration

Phone: +45 35262626
E-mail: info@livinginstitute.com
ABOUT LIVING INSTITUTE:
Our mission: “We enable corporations to reach their global goals through enhanced diversity excellence”
By infusing cultural intelligence and gender intelligence we enable companies and their people to harvest the benefits of diversity. We do so by providing training and consultancy, enabling our clients to conduct business effectively in the global market place. As a market leader LIVING INSTITUTE work on all levels in organizations - all over the world.